ACTIVITY INCREASES AT OGDEN STOCKYARDS; 10 FIRMS OPERATE

Growth of Stock Business Here Draws Commission Men From Other Centers; Local Market Passes Others in West

With 10 commission firms doing business in the Ogden Union Stockyards, the activity has increased to such an extent recently that already it is being predicted that additions will have to be built to the new exchange building that has recently been completed at a cost of $30,000, containing offices for the operators at the yards.

The Ogden Union Stockyards was organized in 1917 with Ogden capital and with Lester F. Whitlock as general manager. At that time the yards had a capacity of 50 carloads of cattle, 200 carloads of sheep and 100 carloads of hogs. Under the efficient management of Mr. Whitlock the yards have steadily grown until today they have a capacity of 200 carloads of cattle, 200 carloads of sheep and 100 carloads of hogs. The yards are constructed along the most modern lines with concrete floors throughout. They join the big yards and plant of the Ogden Packing company in the western part of the city.

RECORD DAY.

The photograph was taken October 25, which was the record day in the history of the yards, there being on that day more than 4000 head of cattle in the yards in addition to several thousand head of sheep and hogs.

According to the latest official government reports the Ogden Union Stockyards handles more cattle, sheep and hogs than any stock yards west of Denver. So far this season more than 525,000 sheep have been handled at these yards, together with a record number of cattle and hogs. Ogden's great importance as a railroad and shipping center is one of the main reasons for the rapid growth of the yards. In addition the Ogden yards have been fortunate in inducing California, eastern and local buyers to be on the market and shippers are always assured of a ready demand for their stock and at good prices.

FIRMS COME HERE.

The increased activity has been the means of bringing several large commission firms to the yards, necessitating the erection of larger and more commodious quarters for the handling of their business. A large new exchange building has just been completed.

ed costing $30,000 and with offices for all operators at the yards.

Great activity is also manifested in the sheep feeding business adjacent to the yards and at the Globe Mills. The Crane Creek sheep company and R. F. Bicknell of Boise, Idaho, have constructed sheep feeding yards and will feed 55,000 sheep and lambs this season. This will mean that a carload of fat lambs can be secured at the Ogden yards at any time during the feeding season. They will also feed several thousand cattle and hogs. A. P. Strayer of Denver is constructing feed yards here and will feed about 5000 lambs this season. This increased activity has also been the means of inducing many local farmers to feed over a large number of stock.

Louis F. Swift, president of Swift and company, packers, was a recent visitor at the yards. After looking over the feeding plant and yards he remarked that the Ogden stock yards is getting a reputation of being one of the best markets in the entire country, and predicted a bright future and rapid growth for the entire plant.

LOCAL FIRMS.

Following is a list of the commission firms doing business at the yards:

John Clay Commission company, Hunsaker Commission company, Union Livestock Commission company, Peck Brothers & Graham Commission company, Jack Lee Commission company, Lundquist & Grant, Crane Creek Sheep company, A. F. Strayer, Andrew Blingham, Herman Kuchler.

OMAHA WARMEST CITY IN AMERICA

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 28.—(By International News Service.)—Fire that broke out in the garage of F. F. Hart this afternoon caused damage estimated at $50,000.

The fire was put under control after burning for several hours and threatening to wipe out the entire business section of Evans.

The origin of the flames is undetermined, but it is believed to have been from spontaneous combustion in a section of the garage.

Two garages and four other stores were destroyed.

Fire apparatus from Greeley was hampered in aiding the local fire fighters because the coupling on the Greeley hose would not fit the Evans hydrants.

Sage Tea Darkens Hair to any Shade

WHEN you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost, you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, and look years younger.

WARRANTS FOR INDICTED ISSUED

Seven Salt Lake Men Ordered to Appear in District Court.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 28.—To answer charges of conspiracy to defraud, bench warrants were issued today for F. N. Cameron, Merion Heiner, F. H. Rolapp, C. B. Hotchkiss, J. H. Tonkin, J. Will Knight and Fred A. Sweet. The warrants order the men to appear before Judge Ephraim Hansen of the criminal division of the Third district court. True bills were returned against them yesterday by the grand jury.

Under the Utah statutes, conspiracy to defraud through price fixing agreements is an indictable misdemeanor carrying on conviction, fine or imprisonment, or both. The seven men named above will be arraigned at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning to answer to the crime alleged against them in the indictments. At that time the cases will be set for trial.

In the cases of the 18 corporations, six coal and 12 lumber, indicted on similar charges, summons ordering them to appear before Judge Hansen to answer to the charges were also issued today. These will be given the statutory limit of 20 days in which to answer, so that action against them through their executive officers will not commence Tuesday. The corporations charged are: Utah Fuel, Standard Coal, Independent Coal and Coke, Royal Coal, Knight Fuel, United States Fuel, Sugarhouse Lumber and Hardware, Granite Lumber, Eastern and Western Lumber, Billings Lumber and Coal, McFarland Lumber, Peit Lumber, George Romney Lumber, Noall Bros. & Armstrong, Utah Lumber, Morrison-Merrell Lumber, McConaughy-Lossee Lumber, and Rio Grande Lumber companies.

The grand jury found two counts against defendants in both groups. The coal group is charged with two violations of the antitrust fixing statute, one in April, and one in September of this year. The lumber group likewise is charged with two violations, one in April and one in August of this year.

STOCK HELPS IN LEAN YEAR

Farmers Learning Value of Hogs and Cattle, Packer Asserts.

Diversified farming, crop rotation and the running of livestock upon farm land in the Salt Lake valley to improve its worth and capacity for crops is urged by James Brennan, general manager of the Ogden Packing & Provision company, who recently completed a survey of the land lying in Salt Lake valley and Weber county.

Mr. Brennan declares there is an undertone of optimism among farmers and business men that assures brighter days in the near future. The sugar beet harvest is in full swing and indications point to a prosperous campaign. Field men for the sugar companies declare that the sugar contents of beets is higher this year, and that many fields are testing at high percentages.

But there is one great trouble with the Salt Lake valley, Mr. Brennan declares, and in this he is substantiated by some of the most progressive farmers in the district. This is the lack of diversified farming.

OCCASIONALLY ROTATED.

"Year after year," Mr. Brennan said, "the farmers in the valley, especially in the irrigated sections, have carried the idea that their land is too valuable for anything except intensive cultivation. Year after year, they have plowed up their land and planted it to beets, alfalfa, and seed, cantaloupes, watermelons and seed crops. Occasionally they rotated—or better, alternated—crops in various fields, and rather hoped than expected to maintain the fertility of the soil in this manner."

"Perhaps the farmer has thought of stocking the farm with a few dairy cows, or running a carload of hogs on the alfalfa crop over a few acres, but has finally reached the decision that the irrigated land is too valuable for anything but intensive crop cultivation."

"Here and there along the valley, one occasionally sees a small bunch of Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys or milking Shorthorns. Poultry farms are springing up in many parts of the valley and one of the farmer is more attentive to their poultry flocks."

FINDING CONVERTS.

"Now and then one runs across a farmer who points with pride to the new purchase of Jersey or Poland China herd boar recently purchased to run with his scattering drove of porkers. County agents are beginning to preach the virtues of 'the cow, the hog and the hen,' and they are finding many ready converts."

"Until recently, little interest has been taken in stock feeding in Salt Lake valley. Recently, however, with the opening of the feeding mills of the Globe Grain & Milling company, for the disposal of refuse and by-products, stockmen have realized the opportunity which lies in this direction. The Crane Creek Sheep company and R. F. Bicknell of Boise, Idaho, have constructed feedyards at West Ogden and will feed this winter, approximately 55,000 sheep and lambs, together with several thousand hogs, and in addition these feed yards will be open to the market for practically all the alfalfa raised in the county, in addition to the disposal of the refuse and garbage gathered by the trucks of the mills."

MEANS MUCH TO OGDEN.

"The feeding means much to Ogden as a market as money is brought into the valley during the winter as well as other seasons, and that outside buyers at any time may purchase stock here which has been fattened in our own yards."

"Diversified farming and livestock raising, in my opinion, will insure prosperity for the farmers of Salt Lake valley. A lean crop year or an overproduction of one crop will then not strike so deeply into the pocketbook of the farmer and there is also the opportunity, in the event of overproduction of one crop, to feed the overproduced crop to the livestock, which will balance the ledger sheet and prevent serious loss."

'ELECTRIC LOBSTER' DRIVES OUT GUESTS

DENVER, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Kathleen VanEvara wants $10,000 from a local restaurant because the owners of the latter put up a huge lobster in the form of an electric advertising sign on her hotel that has "driven morpheus from the premises."

Mrs. VanEvara filed suit in district court today for that sum, declaring that particularly all the roomers deserted the hotel when the "electric lobster" containing some 75 lamps, appeared in front of their room windows. The restaurant occupies the ground floor of Mrs. VanEvara's hotel.

SARDINE CANYON CONTRACT AWARDED

SALT LAKE, Oct. 28.—Olaf Nelson of Logan was awarded the contract for the construction of the gravel surface road from Wellsville to the Box Elder county line, through Sardine canyon, yesterday by the state road commission. The road will cost $114,794.62 or $16,462.71 per mile.

LIONS CLUB TO BOOST MUSIC

Local Group Unanimously Indorses Annual Scholarship Fund Plan.

The Lions club of Ogden is on record as unanimously indorsing the proposal to establish an annual music scholarship in Ogden and bestow a $1000 purse to a worthy music student who has the talent and ambition to succeed but lacks finances.

This club pledges both its moral and financial support to assist in bringing the movement to success.

A committee consisting of A. E. Stratford, chairman, A. T. McCarthy and Irving Lehman, was named to formulate plans to aid.

These men have held two meetings since the club met last Thursday and will present skeleton plans for a gala musical concert to be held in the immediate future, the money derived to be turned into the fund.

President Joseph Chas of the Lions club is one of the boosters for the movement. He stated last night that the club would do all in its power to assure an annual scholarship award.

"We have unlimited talent in Ogden and nothing would please me as a lover of music better than to see one of the promising students encouraged and rewarded," said Mr. McCarthy.

MRS. ROBINSON TO GET HOME

This Is Indicated By Judge Hearing Settlement Arguments.

After hearing lengthy arguments yesterday in the district court involving the settlement of property in the divorce suit of Mrs. A. A. Robinson against Dr. A. A. Robinson, Judge James N. Kimball instructed counsel for both sides to prepare findings and present them to him Monday.

A decree was awarded to Mrs. Robinson Friday afternoon by Judge Kimball on grounds of desertion.

Judge Kimball indicated in an oral opinion given yesterday at the hearing of the property settlement that he would require the absolute title of the Robinson home, 2562 Madison avenue, valued at approximately $8000, conveyed to Mrs. Robinson. The court gave further indication in his oral opinion that he would require Dr. Robinson to pay all incumbrances and taxes now held against the home and at a certain period next year would require the physician to pay his former wife $800 in cash. He instructed Attorneys George Halverson and A. E. Pratt, attorneys for Mrs. Robinson, to prepare findings along these lines.

A. W. Agee and J. G. Willis, attorneys for Dr. Robinson, argued against the awarding of absolute title to the Robinson home to Mrs. Robinson. They were willing that she should be given a life estate in the property, that she could occupy and make use of the property during her life, but in the event of death the property would revert back to Dr. Robinson or his heirs. This would prevent the sale of the property by Mrs. Robinson if she desired to dispose of it.

Judge Kimball will allow the filing of findings by counsel for both parties tomorrow and will hold the case under advisement until the papers are presented. He intimated, however, in his oral opinion that he would accept the findings of counsel for Mrs. Robinson.

Ogden's Finest Homes Are of Brick

Those large substantial homes, those cozy bungalows, lightful cottages, modern apartment buildings—structures in Ogden are built of brick. There is a reason. Brick is not only substantial, it also provides a home warm in winter, cool in summer, with a attractive structure can be erected. Besides, brick is cheaper, for their maintenance cost is less.

When you build, build of brick.

CO-OPERATION

A powerful word is co-operation—but one often misused.

We mean by co-operation, pulling together constructively for a common progress and a united success.

In this sense, we have been co-operating with Ogden and Weber Valley for nearly forty years. And we have felt a natural pride in the steady growth of our community.

Also, in this sense, we have been allowed to co-operate in a more personal way with thousands of men and women who are our customers. It is a matter of pride with us that we have ever served their interests fully and faithfully.

Constructive Co-operation will be our Watchword in the future as it has been in the past.
